Ignascio G. Camarena II

Managing Attorney - Santa Ana

Ignascio G. Camarena II is managing attorney of the firm's Santa Ana office and has extensive experience in all aspects of complex civil litigation. Although he specializes in the areas of construction, business, and tort litigation, his practice also extends to employment law, trademarks, business formation, and personal injury. Mr. Camarena has successfully served as lead counsel in several court and jury trials and arbitrated and mediated numerous complex cases through final resolution. In doing so, he has secured millions of dollars in judgments and effectively defended clients against multimillion dollar claims.

Ignascio also has significant litigation experience involving local and state public and quasi-public entities before state and federal courts. He has litigated civil rights and tort claims, including police misconduct, destruction and taking of property, public accommodations, emergency medical treatment, and ADA issues, against the City of San Jose, County of Tulare Regional Medical Centers, State of California Highway Patrol, and Pacific Gas & Electric. In doing so, he has a firm understanding of the tort claim process, 11th Amendment sovereign immunity and qualified immunity defenses, as well as how to handle any local publicity related to such claims.
